

FOCUS Session

Developing a Sixth Sense (using your initiative)

While this course does not actually help you to see spirits, sense world catastrophes or communicate with the dearly departed, it does help you observe, notice and 'sense' what needs to happen, what might happen and how it could happen before it does. Initiative is a proactive, self-starting nature that takes advantage of opportunities that others pass by. This seminar looks at methods of developing that valuable attribute, in order to put you ahead of the game.

The gift of sensing the future may seem far-fetched, but observation, some self-confidence, common-sense and a little wisdom is a very similar gift and can be developed, practised and continually improved, which is what this session is all about. Topics include:

- Spotting opportunities
- Building confidence
- Identifying solutions not problems
- Testing and framing your ideas
- Thoughtful observation
- Initiating wisely.
